Trish Hampton | www.trishhampton.com

Trish got a beautiful American Bulldog named Maggie and couldn't find a fashionable enough collar for her. So, she gathered ribbon, webbing, and hardware and sat at the sewing machine. From that, a nationally recognized business of unique dog collars, harnesses and leads flourished. Later, the family welcomed Finley, who was "too hairy" to see the collars and bow ties (and blossoms) were created. All of our products are handmade in the United States with quality, durability and style in mind.

Webster Bank | www.websterbank.com

Webster Bank's heritage dates back to 1935, when 24-year-old Harold Webster Smith founded the bank with $25,000 borrowed from family and friends. Over the years, we have expanded to become a leading regional bank in the Northeast with over $25 billion in assets and 176 banking centers from greater New York City to Boston. But, while we have grown, our core values have remained unchanged. We still put people first — acting with responsibility, respect, ethical behavior, citizenship and teamwork. We call these principles "the Webster Way." They bring us together, set us apart, and create an unshakeable core that is unique to Webster. Make sure to stop by our table today, say "Hi."
